HOME NOTES MAGAZINE

158 Bunny Puns and Jokes (2026): Easter Is a Section of This Page

158 original puns, ready to copy

Easter is a section of this page. The rest of the lines are for ordinary days: a leash, a windowsill, a love note, a birthday card. You will find 158 original bunny and rabbit puns, including basket tags and chocolate-bunny jokes with punchlines of their own.

Quick summary

Bunny puns can live outside spring. This page holds 158 original lines for everyday captions, Easter basket tags, dad jokes, chocolate-bunny punchlines, love notes, birthday cards, and photos. Easter is a section of this page, set beside the rest of the rabbit wordplay.

- 158 original bunny and rabbit puns in one hub.
- Everyday lines plus an Easter section for baskets and eggs.
- Chocolate-bunny jokes with punchlines of their own.
- Love notes, birthday cards, and caption-ready lines.

Read the full guide with search, filters and FAQs: https://homespunsecret.com/bunny-puns-and-jokes
Last updated 2026-11-11. Free for personal and classroom use. Please link back if you share.

Contents

1. Bunny Puns That Work Outside Easter (22)
2. Easter Bunny Puns for a Basket Tag (22)
3. Easter Bunny Dad Jokes (18)
4. Cute Bunny Puns (20)
5. Chocolate Bunny Puns With a New Punchline (16)
6. Bunny Love Puns From Hop and Hare (18)
7. Bunny Birthday Puns for a Card (20)
8. Bunny Puns for Instagram Captions (22)

Bunny Puns That Work Outside Easter

A hop, a hare, a leash, or a thump works in any month. Save the basket for the Easter section.

1. The leash is a round-trip ticket for one hop.
2. Hare today, on the rug tomorrow.
3. This bunny keeps office hours beside the window.
4. Thump once for yes. Thump twice for more hay.
5. The burrow is a blanket with a better floor plan.
6. A nose twitch is the whole weather report.
7. A cottontail signs the end of a hop.
8. I asked for quiet company and received a small drummer.
9. The cardboard castle has a queen and a velvet rope.
10. Binky first. Explanations can wait.
11. The daily program is nibble, nap, negotiate.
12. The water bowl is a mirror with responsibilities.
13. Soft ears, firm opinions about the hallway.
14. Hop to the left. The right side is already claimed.
15. Hay is a salad that keeps the meeting going.
16. The shoe was inspected and a permit was issued.
17. One leap, then a sit, as if the floor requested it.
18. Whiskers wide, plans small, welcome large.
19. The hutch door is a suggestion box.
20. A quiet room, until the thump casts a vote.
21. From rug to rug, the commute is a hop.
22. Tuesday has a rabbit in it, and that is the headline.

Easter Bunny Puns for a Basket Tag

A tag has room for a few words. Name the basket, add the person, and let the grass filler finish the scene.

23. Hop in. The basket saved you a seat.
24. A little hare for a wide Sunday.
25. Eggs, grass, and one good hop.
26. Basket hours are open.
27. From the hop committee, for you.
28. A soft hello beside the jelly beans.
29. The grass is paper. The wish is real.
30. Tie this where a bunny would approve.
31. You are the treat this basket came to deliver.
32. One basket, one hop, one happy name.
33. Signed with a cottontail.

34. The eggs are dyed. The wish is simple.
35. Hang me on the handle and go enjoy Sunday.
36. A hare of a good morning.
37. This basket hops into your day.
38. Grass filler, full heart.
39. For the friend who still hunts the good eggs.
40. Sunday wishes, delivered at a hop.
41. A bunny tag for a calm celebration.
42. The best seat is the one in the basket.
43. Leave this where a small paw would nod.
44. Easter sweetness, addressed to you.

Easter Bunny Dad Jokes

A dad joke here is a question with a clean answer. The pause before the last line is the delivery.

45. Why did the bunny bring a pencil to the basket? It wanted a hop-timistic sketch.
46. What do you call a rabbit who tells jokes on Sunday? A well-timed bunny.
47. Why did the Easter bunny sit down? Those hops had been on duty all morning.
48. How does a bunny answer the phone? Ears looking at you.
49. Why was the rabbit good at hide-and-seek? Every burrow was a known address.
50. What did the basket say to the bunny? You hold the moment. I hold the eggs.
51. Why did the bunny cross the garden? The other side had better hiding spots.
52. What is a rabbit's favorite class? Hare-story, with extra dates.
53. Why did the dad bunny tell a joke? The quiet needed one hop.
54. What do you call a rabbit on the couch? A soft conclusion.
55. Why did the bunny bring hay to the table? A light snack for a light mood.
56. How do rabbits send a Sunday note? By hare mail.
57. Why are the egg and the bunny friends? They both roll with the day.
58. What did the bunny say at the door? I hare to barge in.
59. Why did the class clap for the bunny joke? It was short, clean, and done.
60. What is a bunny's favorite recess game? Hopscotch, with the hop included.
61. Why did the rabbit wear a bow? The basket had a dress code of kindness.
62. What do you call a rabbit with a calendar? An organized hare.

Cute Bunny Puns

Cute can still be a pun. One soft word, one second meaning, and a rabbit who is clearly loved.

63. A nose that twitches hello.
64. Ears up, welcome on.
65. One cottontail, endless patience for parsley.
66. The smallest thump can still say I am here.

67. Velvet ears, tidy paws.
68. A bunny in the lap is a warm comma.
69. Hay on the chin, joy in the eyes.
70. Hop small. Affection large.
71. The quiet pet with a loud welcome.
72. A binky is a yes you can see.
73. Soft fur, precise notes about lettuce.
74. Two ears, one favorite person.
75. The rug has a rabbit-shaped blessing.
76. A blink, a nibble, a stay.
77. Gentle is the point. Cute is the bonus.
78. Little paws, careful hops.
79. The bunny sat like a period at the end of a good day.
80. Whiskers first, then trust.
81. A handful of hay and a lap of calm.
82. Some days the hop is the whole story.

Chocolate Bunny Puns With a New Punchline

Hollow centers, foil jackets, and a candy bunny who stays in the basket. The punchline is new on purpose.

83. Why did the chocolate bunny stay in the basket? It had a hollow schedule and a sweet assignment.
84. What do you call a chocolate bunny in foil? A gift that rustles.
85. This chocolate bunny does not hop. Staying put is the talent.
86. Why was the chocolate bunny so calm? It was molded for the occasion.
87. A hollow bunny can still hold a whole greeting.
88. The foil is the jacket. The cocoa is the guest.
89. What did the chocolate bunny say to the basket? I will stay right here and still be the centerpiece.
90. Keep this bunny out of warm windows. Melting is a different kind of hurry.
91. Why did the chocolate bunny skip the race? It was made to be offered, then admired.
92. A solid chocolate bunny is a short speech in cocoa.
93. The basket brought the grass. The bunny brought the pause.
94. What do you call chocolate shaped like a rabbit? A sweet shape for after dinner.
95. The punchline is the wrapper coming off, still in one piece.
96. Why did the chocolate bunny get the best seat? It dressed for the day and stayed.
97. Cocoa, quiet, and a bow. That is a complete greeting.
98. The chocolate bunny's talent is arriving exactly as promised.

Bunny Love Puns From Hop and Hare

Hop can mean come closer. Hare can sound like here. One of those is enough for a note.

99. I hop you know how glad I am.
100. Hare I am, and here I stay.
101. You are my favorite place to land.
102. A small hop in your direction.
103. If affection had ears, it would turn when you walk in.
104. Cottontail note: I choose you.
105. Come closer. I will make room on the rug.
106. Hare today and hare tomorrow, if you will have me.
107. My heart does a quiet binky when you arrive.
108. One hop, and I am beside you.
109. You are the soft part of the day.
110. A long distance is a long hop. I would rather be near.
111. Your name is the one I thump yes for.
112. Hold my paw in the kind way.
113. Love, delivered at a sincere hop.
114. You make a room feel like a safe burrow.
115. A hare for you, and a here for us.
116. I will hop toward the good plan if you are in it.

Bunny Birthday Puns for a Card

Wish the person well in a plain sentence, then add one hop or hare. The card can stay kind at any age.

117. Hope your birthday hops in gently.
118. Another year, another good burrow of friends.
119. Wishing you a day that lands softly.
120. A birthday hop, reserved for you.
121. May your year be kind and your pace be your own.
122. This card is paper. The wish is a cottontail of affection.
123. Happy birthday to someone who makes room on the rug.
124. One more trip around the sun, at a glad hop.
125. Candles first. Then a smile in the margin.
126. A birthday note with ears only in the drawing.
127. May the day be sweet and the evening unhurried.
128. A birthday wish with one hop and no rush.
129. You deserve a basket of ordinary good things.
130. Another year of being someone people are glad to see.
131. A small thump of applause for you.

132. Happy birthday. The plan is cake, and the plan is sound.
133. May your wishes land as softly as a hop.
134. I hope the good parts multiply like kind notes.
135. Birthday blessing: warm hands, a full laugh, a gentle pace.
136. For your birthday, one sincere hop and one real wish.

Bunny Puns for Instagram Captions

A caption can name a hop, a window, or a Tuesday. If it needs the holiday to make sense, it belongs in the Easter section.

137. Hop included. Extra explanation optional.
138. Window light, rabbit approved.
139. The ledge has a new supervisor.
140. Ears in frame. Plans on pause.
141. A leash, a hop, a Tuesday.
142. Soft focus, sharp twitch.
143. The face of a completed nap.
144. Hay crumbs count as a love language.
145. Guests may visit. The bunny keeps the caption.
146. The windowsill has opinions and excellent light.
147. Joy happened just outside the crop.
148. Indoor hop, present company.
149. The best filter is afternoon light.
150. Caption, short version: thump, settle, stay.
151. A rabbit can be the picture in any month.
152. Whiskers forward.
153. One photo, one hop, no further notes.
154. The windowsill shift has begun.
155. Fluff first. Caption second.
156. Posted with parsley on the side.
157. A quiet pet and a generous amount of cute.
158. Saving this hop for a later smile.

Frequently asked questions

Which bunny puns work outside the Easter season?

Lines about a hop, a hare, a leash, or a windowsill work in any month because they describe a rabbit. Basket, egg, and chocolate lines can wait for spring if you want the words to match the date. An everyday caption can be as small as a hop from rug to rug.

What is a short bunny pun for an Easter basket tag?

Try one line that names the basket and the person, such as Hop in, the basket saved you a seat. Tags have room for a few words, so the setup can stay home. Write the pun, add a name, and let the grass filler hold the rest.

How can I write a chocolate-bunny joke without reusing the missing-ears punchline?

Use a different fact about the candy: a hollow center, a foil wrapper, or a bunny that stays in the basket. The joke can land on the rustle, the cocoa, or the calm of a shape that does not hop. Leave body jokes out. A new punchline should make sense to someone who has never heard the old one.

What is a clean Easter bunny joke for a classroom?

Pick a question and a kind answer, such as Why did the bunny sit in the basket? It was the guest of honor. Read it once before class so the last word is easy to say. A clean joke earns a groan and a smile, and then the lesson continues.

How can rabbit words like hop and hare become a love note?

Let hop mean come closer, and let hare sound like here, then attach that twist to a kind sentence. Hare I am, and here I stay can sit beside a real compliment. One wordplay is enough. The note should sound like you, with the rabbit word as the bow.

What should I write in a bunny-themed birthday card?

Wish the person a good year, then add one hop or hare line that fits the card. Hope your birthday hops in gently works for a child and for an adult. Sign your name under the pun. The birthday wish stays in plain language, and the rabbit word visits once.

How do I make an Easter bunny caption different from a general rabbit caption?

Add one spring detail a Tuesday photo would not need, such as a basket, egg dye, or a Sunday table. A general rabbit caption can talk about a hop, a leash, or a nap and still be true in July. If the line names the holiday, it is an Easter caption. If it names only the rabbit, it belongs with the everyday set.

Can a bunny dad joke work as a question-and-answer joke?

Yes. A dad joke is often a question with a pun waiting in the answer, and that shape is easy to tell out loud. Ask something a child can follow, then answer with hop, hare, or basket. The pause before the answer is the delivery.